2025 COLUMBIA VALLEY SAUVIGNON BLANC

VINTAGE NOTES

2025 delivered our best yields in five years with incredibly high fruit quality. The 2025 season proved near-perfect: mild winter, ideal spring budbreak, and excellent late-May bloom set healthy fruit-to-canopy balance. May 21st marked the end of significant rain until October, finishing over three inches below average and requiring vigilant irrigation management at our historically dry-farmed Cut Bank Estate. Average summer temperatures and warmer fall brought rapid harvest starting August 27th.

TASTING NOTES

Made from two new sites—Phinney Hill in Horse Heaven Hills and Nine Mile Vineyard in Walla Walla Valley—this stainless steel fermented Sauvignon Blanc has all the things that make this varietal so delicious. The wine shows vibrant aromas of pineapple, mango, peaches, and citrus zest, evolving to reveal key lime juice, lemon curd, and hints of fresh cut grass. The palate enters with mouth-coating viscosity held together by a bright, fresh acid backbone, where tropical fruit and stone fruit meet subtle herbal tones that bring you back for more.
